Republican Candidate for Governor Makes Red Hot Speech in Maryville

Says Money was Spent in Painting Angels in Governor's Mansion

Col. John W. Overall, republican nominee for governor of Tennessee, made a red hot speech in Maryville Wednesday at 11 o'clock.

He laid serious charges at the door of the present state administration. Col. Overall quoted several figures which he got from Nashville. He said he had tried for six weeks to get a statement of conditions, but had failed, and finally gave a fellow a five dollar bill, and then he got what he wanted. He told of conditions that have developed under the present board of control of the state, which was appointed by virtue of legislation under the present administration, and said that a man who had formerly been paid only $65 a month as salary, working in a ten ton ice plant, now receives $4,000 per year. "That fellow can get votes for certain democratic candidates," said Mr. Overall. He said this board has extravagantly wasted the State's money and is costing the state over $45,000 per year.

The candidate further stated that under the present administration, the state penitentiary system, which during the last three years of Gov. Hooper's administration, netted the state $100,000 per year clean profit, last year netted a clean loss of $54,000 to the state. He said that the governor had spent $7,800 in decorating and furnishing the governor's mansion. Much of this was spent, he asserted, in painting flowers, and birds and little angles around on the walls.

The address was filled with charges of bad administration. The speaker said that the time is coming when there will have to be a house cleaning in state affairs, and he wants to be elected so that he can help in that clean-up. The speech was short, but Col. Overall convinced his hearers that he is "some speaker".

A. J. Fletcher, elector from the state at large, spoke at length.

Col. T. N. Brown presided at the meeting and presented the speakers. The attendance was not large.

REVIVAL IS SUCCESSFUL

Prominent Divine at Baptist Church Is Heard By Large Audiences

Meetings Will Continue Through next Sunday—Soloist is Popular

The revival which has been in progress at the Baptist church for the past ten days, is resulting in much good to the church and town. The evangelist, Rev. E. V. Lamb, is preaching great sermons, and the singing of J. P. Scholfield is one of the delightful features of the services.

Large congregations are attending every service. The meeting continues through Sunday.

JESSE HUTTON SELLS

GILT TO H. L. CURRIE

Jesse Hutton sold one of his Poland China gilts to H. L. Currie at the East Tennessee divisional fair in Knoxville last week. Mr. Currie is the stock raiser whose Poland China boar has carried off all honors in five states. He looked over Mr. Hutton's herd at the fair, and said that the Blount county gilts were better than his, and he bought one. Mr. Hutton disposed of several other hogs and pigs during the fair.

SHERIFF IS NOW OUSTED

Supreme Court Sustains Lower Court in Case Against Sheriff Reichman

All Sheriffs Would Do Well to Read Opinion and Ponder Over It's Meaning

Knoxville, Oct. 9.—In an able and elaborate opinion, the supreme court yesterday overruled and dismissed the petition to rehear in the ouster suit against ex-Sheriff Reichman of Memphis and adhered to its former opinion that Reichman was guilty of a wilful and intentional failure and refusal to perform certain duties of his office, for which it was necessary to remove him. The opinion was prepared and delivered by Special Justice Wm. L. Frieron, of Chattanooga, sitting for Justice Williams, and was concurred in by the other regular members of the court.

The court adhered to and repeated its holdings in the original opinion in the case, defining the duties of the sheriff as the principal law enforcement officer of the county and the powers afforded him by the law with which to secure an enforcement of the law.

The basis for the removal of Sheriff Reichman was stated to be his refusal to take any steps whatever to secure an enforcement of the laws against the selling of intoxicating liquor in the city of Memphis, although he had knowledge that open saloons were being openly maintained in the city limits with the permission and connivance of the city police. Reichman took the position that no duty was incumbent on him to enforce the laws in Memphis, unless process was placed in his hands to execute and tacitly agreed to leave the enforcement of the law in Memphis to the city authorities. In taking this position, the supreme court held that Reichman wilfully refused to perform duties which the law imposed on him; that it was as much his duty to enforce the law in the city as in the other parts of the county, and especially when he had knowledge that the city authorities were making no effort to enforce the laws.

Court Winks at Law
The court held that a sheriff could not purposely absent himself from places in his county where he had reason to believe the law being violated, but that with such knowledge it is the duty of the sheriff to actively take steps to prevent the violation of the law, or to apprehend and secure the punishment of the offender if the law has been violated.

The legal conclusions reached by the court in the original opinion were supported by citations and quotations from cases from many other states, as well as cases from Tennessee. Many pages of the opinion were devoted to a discussion of the holding that a sale of intoxicating liquor may under circumstances, be a breach of peace, and that one who conducts an open saloon fitted up and equipped for the unlawful sale of liquors is subject to arrest without a warrant as for a threatened breach of the peace. The contention of counsel for Reichman that there could be no breach of the peace except by an act of violence was expressly overruled and authorities were cited to support the position that any indictable offense was a breach of the peace, made so by the language of the constitution of Tennessee. The opinion of the court was filed for publication.

GEORGIAN BUYS FARM

OF WILLIAM McCULLOCH

J. W. Patterson, of Marblehead, Ga., has bought the 21-acre farm from William McCulloch, on the Montvale pike just out of town. He paid $5,600 for it. The trade was made through James A. & D. A. Goddard. After visiting Maryville Mr. Patterson said this town is far better for business than his home town in Georgia and he will enter some kind of mercantile business here.

Blount County Leads In Live Stock Show

Horses, Mules, Cattle, Hogs and Sheep from Blount County Farms Get Blue Ribbons Over Those from Other East Tennessee Counties

Blount county loomed far above other East Tennessee counties in the big divisional fair at Knoxville last week, and every man who entered stock in that show, came away with prizes. Blount county has again demonstrated to the state that she has the goods and can deliver them, and this last exhibition received words of commendation from stock men of other states who had entered winners in many state fairs.

Blount county is in every respect an ideal stock raising center, and her progressive farmers are abreast of the times. They have put on their farms the best blooded animals and modern methods for their care and development are adopted.

The Blount county exhibit was the pride of every man and woman from this county who attended the fair, and none could have gone through the barns without having rejoiced over the splendid showing made.

The Blount county exhibit consisted of the following stock:

HORSES AND MULES

Two Percheron mares owned by Sam N. Yearout.

One Percheron mare owned by One Percheron stallion owned by Rogers & Co.

One 8-year old mule owned by Chas. Proffitt.

One weanling mule owned by Will Teffetteller.

Winners

The two year old filly owned by Sam N. Yearout won first prize in the open two year old class, and the filly and mother won second as pair of mares.

The stallion exhibited by Rogers & Co., won second at the night horse show in a class of eight stallions, and first in the day class under another judge. This stallion won at the Blount county stock show last month.

Bert Anderson's mule won third in a class of seven mules, against keen competition.

Chas. Proffitt won first on two-year old mules, and Will Teffetteller's mule the sweepstakes weanling mule at the Blount County stock show, stood second, being beaten by a colt from Concord.

BEEF CATTLE

One Angus bull owned by Harris Bros.

One Angus cow owned by S. N. Yearout.

Two Angus Heifers owned by John Hitch.

One Shorthorn cow owned by Chas. Proffitt.

Winners

Harris Bros. won second in the open class, and first in the East Tennessee class on the bull shown in the Blount county exhibit. This bull attracted quite a good deal of attention, and was admired by thousands.

S. N. Yearout won second in the open class and first in the East Tennessee class on his aged Angus cow.

The two Angus heifers owned by John Hitch, and which were purchased at the Angus sale in Knoxville last spring, stood second and third in open class and first and second in the East Tennessee Angus class.

The Shorthorn cow exhibited by Chas. Proffitt failed to place in the open class because of very keen competition.

An Angus cow and two calves not placed in the Blount county exhibit, were exhibited by the Sylva farm, of this county. They won the following:

Aged cow first in open class, and second in East Tennessee class.

Senior bull calf second in open class and first in East Tennessee class.

Junior heifer class, second in open class and first in East Tennessee class.

The produce of the aged cow won first in open class.

DAIRY CATTLE
The Blount county exhibit of dairy cattle consisted of:

Three head of Jerseys from the herd of Will Davis.

One cow from the herd of Fezzell Bros.

One cow from the herd of Chas. Proffitt.

The 2-year old Jersey bull owned and exhibited by Will Davis stood second in the open class.

Mr. Davis won third place with a cow that had not been fitted for a show. She was exhibited against two of the greatest dairy herd leaders in the south, Mrs. Gilbreath's Island Home herd and the Black Belt farm jerseys of Alabama. Mr. Davis is to be congratulated on his fine jerseys, and also on his public spiritedness in exhibiting the cow at this time of year when jersey dairy products are so high.

SWINE
The swine exhibit consisted of:

Four head of Poland China by J. S. Hutton, including Big Smooth Hadley and three of his gilts.

S. P. Clark & Son exhibited their aged Duroc Jersey boar in this class.

Mr. Hutton won second prize in the aged Poland China boar class on Big Smooth Hadley, being defeated by H. L. Currie's undefeated aged boar which is the champion of at least five state fairs. This boar of Mr. Currie's weighed 950 pounds at this fair, and when he is fat, he tips the scales at 1,200 pounds.

S. P. Clark & Son won second on their aged boar in the Duroc open class.

The first prize winner in this class weighed 975 pounds at the fair.

SHEEP
The Blount county sheep exhibit was taken from the flock of Chas. Proffitt. These sheep won several first prizes in the open and East Tennessee classes, in their respective classes according to age.

Mr. Proffitt's winning were:

Aged ewe, first
Yarling ewe, first.
Black lamb under one year, first.
Sweepstakes ewe.

The Blount county exhibit was in charge of H. R. Duncan, Chas. Proffitt, Newton Yearout and John T. Clark, of S. P. Clark & Son. These gentlemen are deserving the praise and commendation of every Blount countyman for the fine exhibit secured.

Every one should begin working now for a week's fair in Maryville next fall. We've got the stock and the people and the money. Let's put it on.

Mr. W. P. Hood, superintendent of the K. & A., did not charge for transporting the Blount county animals exhibited in the fair from Maryville to Knoxville and return.

One cow from the herd of Chas. Proffitt.

The 2-year old Jersey bull owned and exhibited by Will Davis stood second in the open class.

Mr. Davis won third place with a cow that had not been fitted for a show. She was exhibited against two of the greatest dairy herd leaders in the south, Mrs. Gilbreath's Island Home herd and the Black Belt farm jerseys of Alabama. Mr. Davis is to be congratulated on his fine jerseys, and also on his public spiritedness in exhibiting the cow at this time of year when jersey dairy products are so high.

SPEEDERS ARE FINED

Fast Driving on Streets of Maryville is Prohibited by Town Ordinance

Policeman Teffetteller is Doing His Duty and Arresting Offenders

Drive Slowly!

There has been much violation of the speed ordinance in Maryville, says W. D. Teffetteller, traffic policeman, and he is making a strong effort to prohibit this. Last week three parties were cited before the recorder for fast speeding, and they were each fined $7.50. One was cited to appear this week. Mr. Teffetteller wants the people of the town to co-operate with him in preventing reckless driving on streets.

He is on the job and will get all violators whom he sees. The city ordinance provides that automobiles shall not travel faster than 12 miles an hour on the streets, and six miles an hour around corners.

There has been much reckless driving on the roads of the county, but there has apparently been no strenuous effort to prevent this. The county ought to have a live automobile club to co-operate in preventing fast driving, and visitors in the county who disregard the laws, should be arrested and fined. With so many speed fiends on the highways, it makes it unsafe for careful drivers to be on the pikes.

Let's help the traffic cop stop fast driving in town, and tell the sheriff if you know of violations on the public highways.

JOHNSON AND HOUK
HERE ON MONDAY

Sam Johnson of Maryville democratic elector, and L. C. Houk, of Knoxville, republican elector, for the Second Congressional district will address the voters of Blount county Monday afternoon, Oct. 16, at 1 o'clock in the circuit court room of the court house. These gentlemen are able speakers, and their addresses will disclose the various faults and virtues of the two great parties, as each views them. They have been speaking at several points in the district, and have been heard by large audiences.

Wednesday they spoke at Jefferson City. They are to be at Oliver Springs Thursday night, and at Coal Creek Friday night. More than 600 people heard them at Jacksboro last Monday afternoon.

PROHIBITIONISTS HAVE RAISED THEIR SIGHTS

Chicago, Oct. 8.—With their campaign motto changed to "1,500,000 votes for prohibition in 1916", from 1,000,000 votes at which it stood four weeks before the far western dry campaign opened, the prohibition national campaigners, aboard their special train, will leave here tomorrow morning for a month's middle in the west filled the party, which includes J. Frank Hanly and Ira Landrith, the president and vice-presidential candidates with sufficient optimism to cause them to raise their mark for votes by fifty per cent.

THOROUGHbred STOCK TO BE SOLD OCT. 14

James L. Clark will offer for sale some very fine registered stock at his farm near town Saturday morning, Oct. 14, at 9:30 o'clock. Included in this sale are three registered Holstein heifers which were brought from the north a few weeks ago. Mr. Clark is anxious to get the very best blooded stock on the farms of the county, and offers these with other stock, at public sale. A full advertisement of the sale will be found on the third pages of this issue of The Times.

COPPER HILL MAN IS NEW RESIDENT HERE

J. C. Dalton, of Copper Hill, has purchased the Stinnett property on Parham street and will move his family here. Mr. Dalton is a mechanic and will be connected with the Knoxville Power Co. at Alcoa. The deal was closed through Jas. A. & D. R. Goddard.

PARENTS' DAY AT FROGTOWN SCHOOL

Townsend, Oct. 9.—Parents' Day was observed at the Frogtown school last Friday. Prof. Henry Sullivan is principal of this school and planned the program, which was most interesting and entertaining. Prof. M. A. Gilbert spoke in the morning and after noon. At the afternoon meeting he discussed the upward road. Prof. Sullivan's string band furnished music. Several pupils gave speeches which were greatly enjoyed. Basket dinner was served. The school building would not accommodate the patrons. This was said to have been perhaps the largest attendance ever witnessed at a meeting at Frogtown school house and more interest has been shown in the school by patrons this year than for many years.
